JOE REID came in from the Landing on Friday bringing E. Bradshaw and son, of Wetaskiwin, in with him. The Bradshaws have been trapping all winter near Pelican Rapids and Big Stone and were fairly successful, though they lost a large sum through the decrease in the value of furs. They sold their fur to the Hudson's Bay Co. at the Landing. The trade between here and the Landing are unusually good for this season of the year.

THE mass of ice which as prognosticated came down and swept away all miner's stakes on the river banks, has caused a temporary suspension of mining operations as until it thaws away, claim seekers will be unable to drive the necessary stakes; but, though the operations are suspended, interest still increases, and returns from assays are eagerly looked for, while the more enthusiastic ones spent good Friday, and even Sunday, washing black sand in the privacy of their back yards, and another who started out duck shooting came across a patch of black sand and returned to town for a shovel.

DIAMOND JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

The public meeting called for Saturday night, in the fire hall, to discuss the celebration of Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee, was fairly well attended, about thirty-five being present.

Mayor McDougall took the chair, and W. S. Edmiston was appointed secretary of the meeting. It was ultimately decided, after a great deal of preliminary discussion, to celebrate the occasion of the Diamond Jubilee on the 22nd of June, and to that end a motion, made by T. G. Lauder and seconded by E. Looby, that "The Queen's Diamond Jubilee be celebrated on the 22nd of June next, instead of on the 24th of May or the 1st of July," was carried.

It was then further decided that the celebration should consist of the usual programme of sports and any other attractions which could be arranged for by the management committee, to be appointed, and that it be the endeavor of all to make the celebration of the 22nd of June the best public holiday in the history of Edmonton and one worthy of the event, in honor of which it was given.

The question of raising funds, and the advisability of asking the council to contribute, was then brought up and freely discussed and the following motions and amendments were put before the meeting.

Gallagher—McLeod. That the money be raised by private subscription.

Picard—E. Looby, in amendment. That the town be asked to pay the entire amount necessary to be expended on the celebration.

Edmiston—Hardisty, in amendment to the amendment. That the town be asked to contribute and that funds be raised by private subscription as well.

The latter amendment was carried.

The following officers were then appointed: Patrons, F. Oliver, M. P., and M. McCauley, M. L. A.; president, Mayor McDougall; vice-president, W. S. Edmiston; management committee, W. S. Edmiston, E. Looby, W. S. Robertson, Jas. McDonald, T. G. Lauder, J. H. Picard, T. A. Stephen, and J. Looby. Chairman of management committee, J. A. McDougall. Treasurer and secretary to be appointed later.

The name of the celebration was then decided on as the "Edmonton Victoria-Diamond-Jubilee Celebration."

On motion of Jas. McDonald and T. G. Lauder it was decided that the committee of management invite South Edmonton, Fort Saskatchewan, St. Albert, and all other outlying points in the district, to attend and participate in the sports and celebration.

A meeting of the management committee was arranged for to-night at 8 o'clock in the fire hall, and the meeting then adjourned.

THE BRIDGE.

South Edmonton has a grievance, in fact it has two, but that is nothing unusual for South Edmonton as ever since the earliest existence of the now defunct "News" it had complaints and aired them with such "Iconoclastic" like freedom that they resulted in actions for assault, libel suits and other kindred complications.

In a late issue of the Plaindealer is a lengthy and semi-sensible editorial on the proposed bridge, across the river here, in which the writer first finds fault with the location of the bridge at a point near the lower ferry, and secondly, and more reasonably, deals with the height of the bridge and the plan of its construction so as to avoid interfering with navigation upon the river. In speaking of the proposed location, the article says:

"The Plaindealer has always maintained, and still maintains, that the lower site is not the one which will facilitate the trade of the district to the best advantage. We speak, not from a South Edmonton point of view, but from a district standpoint (for we honestly believe that, under the existing circumstances, the lower site is the most beneficial for South Edmonton.)" Just how the trade of the district would be facilitated by the construction of the bridge near the Hudson's Bay Co.'s fort is not apparent, neither is it explained, and as South Edmonton voted nothing towards the bridge, and is, according to the article, satisfied, and as Edmonton voted $25,000 and is undoubtedly satisfied, and as the country, which voted nothing, is also satisfied to have the bridge located at or near the creamery, there appears to be no foundation for the complaint of the Plaindealer unless it be one arising from a "power behind the throne" similar in form to the "power" which was instrumental in having the Edmonton land and registry office built in its present "decidedly inconvenient site."

As to the plea of the proposed bridge and its height so as not to interfere with navigation. These matters are supposed to be regulated by the statutes of Canada, and as the construction of bridges, etc., so as to obstruct navigation, are decidedly contrary to the principles of the law of trade and commerce, "an act was passed in 1886 entitled "An Act respecting certain works constructed in or over Navigable Waters" in which, among other enactments, it states:

"No bridge, boom, dam or abutment shall be constructed so as to interfere with navigation unless the site thereof has been approved by the governor-in-council or unless such bridge . . .

" . . . is built and maintained in accordance with plans approved by the governor-in-council." And further, "Any bridge to which this act applies which is built upon a site not approved by the governor-in-council or which is not built in accordance with plans so approved, or which having been so approved, is not maintained in accordance with such plans, may so far as the same interferes with navigation, be lawfully removed and destroyed under the authority of the governor-in-council."

In all probability, therefore, our government will not overlook the important fact that the Saskatchewan, being a navigable stream, cannot be legally bridged so as to obstruct navigation, and in any event, as the department of public works has practically entered into a contract with the town for the construction of a bridge, and the town has completed its part of the transaction, it now remains entirely with the public works department to build the bridge and that it shall be a legal one, goes without saying.

MINING IN NEW ZEALAND.

The following letter was received by Isaac Cowie from Sir James Hector, K. C. M. G., M. D., director of the geological survey of New Zealand, and who, as Dr. Hector, of Captain Padraic's expedition, discovered gold in the Saskatchewan river in 1858.

The letter may be of interest to those engaged in placer mining on the river here, as it describes the several processes for working alluvial deposits, now in use in New Zealand.

March 11th, 1897.

DEAR SIR: I am much interested in your account of my old country, the Upper Saskatchewan, in its present state of development. What a change from its primitive condition when I first explored it. Sir Robert Stout tells me he has sent you copies of all mines reports that gives plans of the different kinds of waterpower and steam power dredges that are in use in New Zealand, so that I need not describe them in detail. Sufficient to say that we have three types of dredges for working alluvial deposits:

1. Bucket dredge, on a pontoon moored in the stream and worked by an undershot stern wheel. The action of this dredge being limited to situations where the stream is rapid, its application is very restricted.

2. The steam bucket dredge. This is a great improvement, as, being independent of the current, it can be made to excavate a trench or basin in which it floats, and can thus follow up any rich leads that pass into and through the terraces and flat points along the river's course.

3. Elevator dredges. These are used for excavating deep alluvial deposits away from rivers. The water is brought, under great pressure, from 300 to 600 feet vertical head, and delivered through a nozzle into a wide tube at an angle of 45°, resting on a large convex shoe, which slides into the gravel as the excavation proceeds.
The gravel struck by the force of the water is loosened and carried up the large pipe to the altitude required to permit it to flow down the sluice boxes and over the collecting ripples to the nearest water course where it is delivered. In this way most gigantic excavations are made, the work going on day and night by the aid of electric lamps.

As to the machinery, it nearly all comes from England and for its supply you could not do better than consult Messrs. Bainbridge, Seymour & Co., mining engineers, London.

With great pleasure at having again a correspondent in the country in which I still take a keen interest.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

JAMES HECTOR.

CHAPTER VI. LIVE STOCK.

Average number per farm: Horses, 6; cattle 24; sheep, 12; pigs, 23; and hens, 33. The largest number reported by one man was turkeys, 13; ducks, 16, and geese, 5; but the majority keep none, and thus the rather amusing average of each would be 1½ turkeys; 1 duck; and ½ goose.
Neither do the majority keep sheep—the highest reported being 120. Though some of the new settlers use draft oxen, there have been reported under the general heading of cattle.

The period during which our cattle are housed during the winter depends entirely on the season, the kind of cattle, and individual opinion. During a severe winter milking cows and calves are housed as long as from the 1st November to the 1st April, while during a milder winter the period is only during January and February.
The average time appears to be from the 15th December to the 15th March.
The heifers and steers are very rarely housed as a rule, wintering in open sheds and around the stacks of straw, on which they are almost entirely fed.
In fact they feed and take care of themselves otherwise, if supplied with water. Cows, calves and stalled horses are fed on hay, little of which is given to any of the other cattle except occasionally towards spring.

In consequence of the abundance of straw and wild hay, and the few animals of the herd requiring to be entirely housed, the unanimous testimony (except that of two chronic grumbler) in reply to the question, "How does live stock pay?" is "well, very well, and best of anything."
"Cattle can be raised for next to nothing, and horses for nothing." But although some never give their stock any shelter or food other than the straw stacks provide, and many consider they thrive better out doors, yet individuals whose experience entitles their opinions to the best consideration, think it pays to give good care to good stock and declare with such the best beef in the world can be produced in this district. During the winter horses, born in the country and not required for constant work, live and thrive round the straw stacks, and even better running at large on the prairies—finding good and convenient shelter when necessary in adjoining belts of timber.

Sheep, pigs and poultry are also reported to pay well. During spring, summer and autumn the country is of course a paradise for all kinds of stock.

The most profitable and saleable breeds. The majority recommend heavy draft breeds of horses, Clydes and Percherons, being first favorites; natives crossed with any heavy breed next; and the Suffolk Punch and Morgans are also mentioned. Several recommended roadsters also.

Amongst cattle, Shorthorns take first rank, being recommended by all.
Polled Angus come next, then Holsteins, Jerseys and Herefords, in the order named.

Leicesters, Cotswold, Shropshire, Southdown, Merina and Cheviot sheep are recommended.

Among pigs the Berkshire breed receives 34 recommendations, the Poland China 27, Suffolk 2, Yorkshire 2, and Chester White 1.

Diseases of animals.—There are no diseases natural to the country, and animals are most remarkably healthy.
As in other countries the horse is more liable to disease than any of the other farm animals. A most remarkable freedom from disease has been experienced, only a case or two of hoof rot and distemper among horses; one case of hollow horn and two of black leg among cattle, and two cases of catarrh among sheep being reported, while pigs appear to be entirely free of disease.

DAIRYING.

How is the district adapted to dairying? After what has been said above it almost goes without saying that the district is pre-eminently adapted for dairying. Men who are unwilling to accord justice to the country in other respects vie with its most enthusiastic admirers in singing its praises as an ideally perfect dairying district. To a wide range of the best of wild pasture are added an abundant water supply and shading and sheltering groves of trees. The replies therefore range in expressiveness from "well" to "the finest in the world." During the summer season the averages are for each cow: 4½ gallons milk per day, 6½ lbs. butter per week.

The only drawback has been the want of well managed creameries and skimming stations throughout the country. This is now remedied by the government having recently taken over the management of the creamery business; and under its staff of skilled experts a still more brilliant success will distinguish their efforts in this naturally dairying district than that attained in other less suitable places where under their direction this most profitable branch of farming has attained unvarying prosperity.

The estimated average weekly cash receipts from the sale of dairy products are: $276; from eggs, $1.61; and from fowls, 98c; representing a total of $535 to the thrifty housewife. This nice little average income is not shared by the unhappy bachelor farmer; again illustrating the fact that the first requisite of successful farming is in the farmer possessing a good wife.

The average prices of this class of products are stated to have been up to the spring of 1896: Eggs, 14c per dozen; butter, 16½c per lb; cheese, 11½c per lb; dressed meats, beef, 5-1-5c per lb; pork, 4½c per lb; mutton, 6½c per lb; poultry, 9c per lb.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN.

River still passable at this point for light rigs, but getting risky crossing for loaded teams. It is expected to run out by the 18th.

The ferry committee have appointed John Roe as ferryman for the season, and have taken out the scow and are putting it in good shape for the season's business.

Seeding has been started in this district and will be general within the next week or ten days. Trails are drying up rapidly.

W. F. Langworthy, who spent the winter in Europe, has arrived back at his farm and commenced his season's work.

Dr. Aylen has taken charge of medical work at the N. W. M. P. barracks here in place of Dr. Watson, who goes south to the main line. General regret is felt at the departure of Dr. Watson from the Fort where he has been a long resident and is very popular, and as an evidence of his popularity a petition has been circulated by the residents of the district to be forwarded to the member, Frank Oliver, to show the necessity of leaving the doctor at his present work. The petition, which has been unanimously signed, contains nearly 150 names which have been subscribed within two days. It is the intention to give the doctor a good send off before his departure.

STONY PLAIN.

The west end foot ball enthusiasts met on Saturday evening, April 10th, to organize for the coming season. Mr. S. S. Truscott, the retiring president, occupied the chair. A desire to amalgamate with the east end was very generally expressed, and to this end a motion was carried to locate the practice grounds near Stony Plain post office. The following officers were elected: J. Johnston, president; S. J. Truscott, captain and secretary; Messrs. M. McKinlay, H. McLean, Geo. Immerson and C. Dunboward committee. The secretary will be pleased to hear from any club desirous of arranging matches.

The liberal association of Stony Plain will meet in the Stony Plain Centre school house on Saturday, April 17th, at 1 p. m., to discuss questions of local interest.

Seeding has commenced in some parts of the Plains. In general, however, work will not commence until next week.

F. Ducholke, assisted by Mr. Vrause, is busily engaged erecting a new house. S. Eccles was re-elected by acclamation as road overseer for the Spruce Grove district on Wednesday, April 7th. We desire to call his attention to the state of the roadway along the front of Mr. Shutz's lot.

Dr. C. McNeill, who was engaged to teach Spruce Grove school, is undergoing an operation in Toronto hospital and so will not become acquainted with the natural beauties of the Northwest this year. Miss Maggie Young, of Edmonton, has been engaged in his stead.

A PROTEST.

The Calgary Herald of the 14th inst., has the following communication from Innisfail:

SIR—Will you allow space for a cry of sympathy from the liberal rank and file on behalf of the beleaguered garrison of conservative officialdom. Having chosen the cock of the north as our leader for the next four years we don't want him to tarnish his fair name by joining in this dismissal scurrilous. He has already drawn the sword, but let him sheath it at once and leave that quarrel alone, or there will be trouble. We would beg to remind him that he owes his exalted rank, not to office seekers, but rather to the chivalrous army.

Hoping he will take a timely hint from his well wishers.

Yours respectfully,
A TRUE SCOTCH LIBERAL.

Winnipeg Tribune: A medical specialist on Tracedia has been in Winnipeg, and pronounced the three suspected cases there to be leprosy. They will probably be taken to the lepers' home in the east. One of the victims had been living in Qu'Appelle valley, north of Wapella.

ELECTION PROTEST.
The Toronto Globe's Montreal correspondent says: "The fight in Champlain is not over yet. Just as soon as legal requirements can be met a protest will be entered against Marcotte's return on the ground of clerical intimidation and corruption. If the election is voided, Dr. Trudel will not be the candidate again. His declaration that, though he approves of the school settlement, he would oppose it if the Papal delegate told him to do so, does not suit the temper of the great majority of people in this province at the present time.

Nor-Wester: According to the evening World, the photographing of the Fitzsimmons-Corbett fight at Carson has proved a failure. The negatives it is alleged, will not develop. The failure, the World article says, has involved Dan Stuart and others directly interested in a heavy loss. Stuart was under such heavy expense that his only hope to come out ahead was on the photograph. A big fortune would undoubtedly have been realized, as applications for rights had come from even remote parts of the earth. Fitzsimmons is according to the article quoted, the only one who is ahead of the game, having accepted the lump sum of $12,000 for his share in the enterprise.

The correspondent says a story was afloat in Montreal after Merry del Val had concluded the conference with the bishops, that the bishops had been prevailed upon to moderate their views on the settlement—Free Press.

PRAIRIE FIRES.

Fires have been burning all through the Stony Plain district during the last week doing great damage, and the police fire patrol have been busy endeavoring to extinguish the fires and to discover the persons who started them. The largest and most destructive fire started near Spruce Grove post office, and burnt to within four miles of town, travelling across the Indian reserve, and burning almost to the mill, which narrowly escaped destruction. This fire also burnt a number of tamarac rails which were piled near the road, besides destroying the timber growth generally.

Another fire started on section 10, 22, 26, and travelled about six miles, burning up on a course a quantity of hay belonging to Stephen Hill.

The third fire started on Good Friday about one o'clock, west of Stony Plain, and the police fire guardians were compelled to call on the settlers to extinguish it and save the buildings of a settler named Gainette from destruction.

It would be undoubtedly in the interest of public peace and safety if the ordinance regarding prairie fires was amended and a clause inserted providing for the imprisonment of these decidedly criminal fire bugs, in the alternative of their not being able to pay the fine, which the present ordinance provides. As the ordinance at present reads a fine may be exacted and the amount recovered from anyone found guilty of "kindling a fire for the purpose of guarding property or clearing any land," and such amount may be recovered by distress on his goods which are not exempt from seizure under execution, but no other penalty is provided for in the event of the defendant not having any goods liable to seizure under execution and as these fire bugs are generally not only in a pauperous condition themselves, but rapidly putting the rest of the community in the same condition, the law fails to cover the ground and the culprit usually escapes by virtue of his own worthlessness.

WHY TRUDEL LOST.

A special despatch from Ottawa to the Toronto Star states:

The general opinion here is that the liberals lost Champlain because Dr. Trudel, the liberal candidate, had not stood solidly by the school settlement, but, on the contrary, said that if the church had finally decided upon condemning it, he would vote against it.

Liberals of that kind are not required here at present. The school settlement has been made and has been endorsed by constituencies of all creeds and nationalities.

In Bonaventure Mr. Guite stood by his guns in the face of clerical interference, and the result was that his opponent almost lost his deposit.

In Wright county, Mr. Champagne did the same thing, and he doubled Mr. Devlin's majority.

In Champlain, Dr. Trudel, unfortunately, coquetted with the political enemy, which lost him the votes of friends and gave encouragement and strength to his opponents. The result is seen in the vote. It was the same at the general election, and hereafter liberals should take warning.

The Citizen says editorially: "Dr. Marcotte has apparently been returned for Champlain, but by a reduced majority. This is an agreeable surprise, as things have been going lately. Dr. Marcotte's success cannot be attributed to clerical interference this time, for the liberals professed themselves pleased with the pastoral letter issued by Bishop Lafleche."

The "Orphan Boy" mine of Revelstoke is advertised for sale under a writ of execution issued at the instance of J. W. Hoaskins, president and manager of the company, who recovered judgment against the company by default for $3,249.19 for unpaid salary. It must be a great fall in dignity for a gold mine to be seized by the sheriff and sold under execution.

A despatch from Cape Town in the Toronto Star states: The Argus of this city announced to-day that it had received trustworthy information from the capital of the Transvaal, that the British have secured Inyanga Island at the entrance of Delagoa Bay, and that a squadron of warships from this port will proceed there to take possession of the Island and proclaim it British territory.

It is understood that the objected rate war between the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific over the Kootenay country business will be arranged at a conference to be held between Messrs. Reeves and McNicoll, representing their respective roads. Both roads, it is alleged, are of the opinion that a rate-cutting war would be a very bad example just now when the traffic association in the United States are fighting for their lives before the courts.

The conservatives of Ontario Legislature will also have a shot at the alien labor law. It will probably be brought up in the form of an amendment to concurrence in the estimates. The resolution will advise that pulp wood be prohibited from being sold to people of any nation which imposes a duty on manufactured pulp or which has an alien labor law.

THE POLICE PATROL.

Inspector A. M. Jarvis and Sergt. S. Heatherington, who have been on patrol duty in the far north, returned to Fort Saskatchewan, via the Landing, on Thursday night, accompanied by their two dog drivers, James Gullion and Peter Lutel, Jr., after a two thousand mile winter journey with dog teams and sleds, from which both men and dogs returned in a very creditable condition. This trip was probably one of the longest ever taken as a continuous journey with dog teams, as Inspector Jarvis left Edmonton for Lac la Biche in the first week of January last and has been practically travelling ever since. From Lac la Biche the detachment went to Chipewyan, via the Athabasca, and from Chipewyan to Great Slave Lake and from Great Slave Lake to Fort Resolution and thence back to Chipewyan. From Chipewyan the patrol travelled to the Peace River and from Peace River to Vermilion and then a five days' journey was undertaken without a trail and through almost untravelled country to Head Mountain and then up the Peace River about twelve miles past the confluence of the Smokey endeavoring to reach the Clearwater River, but the ice on the river becoming dangerous for travel, the dogs having gone through at one point, they were compelled to return to Lesser Slave Lake. At this point the patrol was within two days' travel of British Columbia. On the return journey to Lesser Slave Lake they came an outfit of stranded Indians with five dogs, poisoned by the carelessness of some white hunter who had scattered his poisoned bait. The police succeeded in locating the culprit, who proved to be one Dan Carey, who was hunting in the vicinity, and he was consequently arrested, tried, found guilty and fined with expedition and despatch. The Indian's dogs being dead they were compelled to pack their furs for three days to the next post. Twenty-five miles of Lesser Slave river was open and the police were forced to build a pontoon bridge to cross upon or turn backward and take another route which would have necessitated an additional trip of one hundred miles.

The detachment reached the Landing on Monday and came in as stated above, to the Fort on Thursday, after completing the longest and best police patrol ever sent into the north. The object of the trip was to suppress the practice of putting out poisoned bait and prevent the illegal sale of liquor. The trip was a success and many transgressors were summarily dealt with, and it is only to be regretted that the brief regime of law and order, which the police inaugurated, could not be indefinitely extended for the benefit of law breakers in general and "poison hunters" in particular.
